Secretary of State Holds Time for Filing as Candidate
Ended Last Evening

The recall election to be held on October 28 will be limited to two sets of candidates. The time for filing of petitions placing candidates in nomination was declared ended at 5 o'clock last evening by the Secretary of State and the list of candidates was to be certified today to the various county auditors.

The three candidates who filed petitions are R. A. Nestos, Sveinbjorn Johnson and Joseph A. Kitchen, the three I. W. A. candidates for Governor, Attorney-General and Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor respectively. Their opponents are the incumbents in these offices, Governor Frazier, Attorney-General Lemke and Commissioner of Agriculture Hagan.

It was possible under the law for a candidate to enter the recall fight by filing a petition bearing 300 names. There had been some rumors of a possible third candidate, but so far as is known the rumors emanated chiefly from the ranks of politicians. F. O. Hellstrom, of Bismarck, was reported to have discussed the proposition of entering a third candidate.

Nominations were declared closed at 5 o'clock last evening by the Secretary of State under the law which required petitions of candidates to be on file thirty days before the election, he said. The supreme court had held in one case that a petition mailed by registered mail on the last day was sufficient, although it did not reach the Secretary of State's office until the following day while in another decision, according to the Secretary of State, the opposite was held. The law applying to special elections was applied in the present case by the state official.

EXPANSION OF
BANK CREDITS
IS REPORTEDFederal Reserve Bank Reports
in Increased Loans in Ninth District

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 29.—Bank credit in the northwest expanded in August.

This is one of the features of the monthly report, 9th district, Federal Reserve bank, Minneapolis, made public here.

Thirty-five banks in the larger cities increased their loans to customers by $5,000,000 and paid off loans to the Federal Reserve bank totaling $500,000, the report says.

"Meanwhile," the report adds "the Federal Reserve bank increased its accommodation $500,000, therefore its accommodation to country banks and agricultural communities was increased $1,000,000.

Relative to grain movement and building operations the report states: "Grain receipts were both larger and earlier than normal and projected building operations continued in large volume.

"Grain receipts presage a considerable amount of debt paying in certain localities and the building projects promise employment well into winter months.

Grain Receipts Double.
"Grain receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth totaled 38,000,000 bushels in August, more than double the receipts of August a year ago.

"This Federal Reserve district will produce a total corn crop larger than in any other year, according to the Sept. 1 estimates."

As to business conditions the bank says:

"Business opinion reflected by comments of 60 selected business men indicates that the volume of business in August was below normal in practically every case and that it was stationary or declining in a majority of cases."

OPIUM DENS ARE FOUND IN MINOT
IN POLICE RAIDS

Minot, Sept. 29.—The Minot police, cooperating with federal agents, have launched a drive against opium dives in Minot. Eugene Parks and his wife, Hattie Parks, both colored, were placed under arrest and their houses searched. Opium was found and they will face federal charges.

Jim Young, 72 years old, and Ma Mope, 64 years old, both Chinese were placed under arrest. Officers found opium in Young's trunk. Ma Mope furnished an alibi so he was released. According to Young he did not know the opium was in his trunk but suspects some younger Chinese who are using it put it in his trunk, believing officers would never suspect an old man. The scales, he claims, were used to weigh my medicine to keep old man alive.

The federal officers have not disclosed their identity.

BISMARCK'S FIGHT FOR LEGION
HEADQUARTERS BEFORE CONVENTIONCoupled with Campaign for P. G. Harrington against Jack Williams for State Adjutant and Strong Fight Loomed in Final Business Session of Delegates

James' own. N. D., Sept. 29.—The opening of the final business session of the state convention of the American Legion occurred here this afternoon and the question of moving the state headquarters to Bismarck, and the fight for the position of state adjutant were uppermost in the minds of the several hundred Legionnaires.

The various delegations are lining up behind Jack Williams, incumbent, and P. G. Harrington, for state adjutant, the Bismarck forces apparently being stronger than was anticipated both for Harrington and for the headquarters.

Judge Hanley, of Mandan, probably will be endorsed as a North Dakota candidate for the position of national commander of the American Legion.

Resting state commander, F. R. Landers was leading the field of three candidates for national committeeman Mack Traynor, of Devils Lake, and

M. H. Sprague, of Grafton, are his opponents.

At noon the convention was in executive session discussing the report of the auditing committee.

The parade last night was the feature of the convention. Floats and other features enlivened the parade.

Three banquets were served at three different churches to accommodate all of the visiting Legion men, and two dances were in progress last evening.

The chairman of the auditing committee found there existed a $3,699 deficit, with the expenses of the convention not paid and expenses of 15 delegates to the national convention to be met.

Among the resolutions adopted was one opposing the I. W. W., asking that the bridge across the Missouri river at Bismarck be called the North Dakota Memorial Bridge, and calling upon employers to give disabled veterans preference for jobs.

land's Final Proposal For a Conference

SINN FEIN IS PLEASED

One Leader Predicts Wording of Note Makes Possible a Conference

London, Sept. 29. (By the Associated Press).—Leaders of the Irish Sinn Fein have been invited to take part in a conference in this city on October 11 in the new display to Eamonn DeValera by Prime Minister Lloyd George. This communication was dispatched early today and was considered to be the British government's final word on the exchange of messages between London and Dublin.

Mr. Lloyd George informed Mr. De Valera, however, that the British government could not alter its fundamental position which was vital to the empire's existence. This position was that Ireland could not be allowed to separate from the British Empire but must base her preparations on self-government as a member of the sisterhood of British dominions.

The note was submitted to the cabinet before being dispatched.

PLEASED WITH WORDING
Dublin, Sept. 29. (By the Associated Press).—The reply of Prime Minister Lloyd George to Eamonn DeValera was received at the Mansion House here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. It was read by Mr. DeValera and Arthur Griffith, foreign minister in the Dail cabinet who were there waiting for it.

A reply may be drafted today and placed before the Dail cabinet which will meet September 30.

The Sinn Fein leaders were agreed surprised by the wording of Mr. Lloyd George's reply and one member of the Dail cabinet who saw it expressed the view that the public confidence in the conference being held was justified. A Dail minister said this afternoon.

"The reply certainly is better than we expected."

Tokio, Sept. 29. (By the Associated Press).—As a part of her fundamental policy at the Washington conference Japan will not permit the "scrapping" of the "Twenty-one demands" agreement with China and will not tolerate interference in the Shantung question, it was declared to the Associated Press yesterday by a Japanese in an authoritative position.

He asserted Japan considered these matters as facts which concerned China and Japan directly.

In the general discussion of far eastern matters, however, Japan was said to be willing frankly to explain her position regarding these questions.

RAIL WORKERS
FAVOR STRIKE

Announcement of Result of Ballot Made in Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Ninety per cent of the ballots cast by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the question of accepting a reduction in wages favor a walkout. It was announced last night after two days spent in counting the returns which will not be completed until tomorrow.

The counting of the ballots of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Order of Railroad Conductors and the Switchmen's Union of North America will begin in Chicago on Monday.

Union leaders regard the results of the trainmen's vote as an indication of the stand the other organizations would take. It was regarded as certain that the workers would authorize a strike but it was believed that the brotherhood chiefs and grievance committees would refuse to sanction a walkout.

ARBUCKLE MURDER CHARGE CUT TO MANSLAUGHTER;
FILM COMEDIAN OBTAINS RELEASE ON $5,000 BAILTRAGEDY REUNITES ARBUCKLES Reduction of Charge as Climax of Hearing Assailed by District AttorneyEARLY TRIAL IS SOUGHT
"Fatty" May go to Trial on an Original Charge on October Third

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Roscoe C. "Fatty" Arbuckle is to be tried on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, film actress, within a few days if present plans of District Attorney Matthew Brady materialize.

A murder charge sworn out against Arbuckle by Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, companion of Miss Rappe at a party in Arbuckle's room yesterday was reduced to a manslaughter charge. This came as a climax to a preliminary hearing which has been in progress nearly two weeks and evoked bitter comment from Brady.

Arbuckle gained his freedom shortly after the preliminary hearing was ended. He already had on deposit $5,000 bail in connection with an indictment charging manslaughter returned against him in the same case by a county judge and this was transferred to cover the proceedings arising from Mrs. Delmont's complaint.

On the grand jury accusation he was placed "on his own recognizance" to return October 3. That date had been set sometime ago, but Brady announced last night that if he could he would utilize it to bring Arbuckle to trial on the Delmont complaint as modified yesterday.

IN JAIL 18 DAYS
Arbuckle had been incarcerated since Saturday, September 10. When a charge of murder was sworn out against him by Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont. This charge was reduced today to manslaughter by Judge Sylvain Lazarus at the end of a preliminary hearing in police court and Arbuckle was released on his own recognizance to answer it. The charge on which he furnished bail was a manslaughter indictment returned against him by the county grand jury.

Arbuckle remained in the prison for several minutes after his release, chatting with his brother, A. C. Arbuckle of this city. He did not announce his plans.

Not enough evidence was introduced to warrant Arbuckle being held to answer for murder, Judge Lazarus said in reducing the charge.

There was enough in Arbuckle's conduct at the drinking party at the Hotel St. Francis which led to Miss Rappe's death to justify his being held for manslaughter, however, he announced.

Smile Returns
A trace of Arbuckle's famous motion picture smile was restored to his face by his release but he had no statement to make beyond saying "thank you" to various people who shook his hand and said "congratulations, Roscoe." He left the prison in company with his brother, A. C. Arbuckle of San Francisco and went to a hotel.

Assistant District Attorney Isadore Gulden and Milton T. U'Ren, who prosecuted the police court hearing, objected vigorously to Judge Lazarus' decision saying they felt Miss Rappe's screams "I am dying! he hurt me!" when she was found in agony were sufficient evidence alone to warrant Arbuckle's being tried on a murder charge.

INDIANS SEEK CLEMENCY FOR YOUNG PRISONER

A delegation of Indians from South Dakota, and from Sioux county, North Dakota, are in the state capital endeavoring to secure clemency for Edward Ironeyes, 20 years old, serving a sentence in the penitentiary for the alleged attempted assault of a school teacher in Sioux county. The delegation asserts the young Indian thought he was pleading guilty to a charge of misconduct and not to the serious offense, which he denies.

Included in the delegation of the boy's father, John Distribute of Carson county, S. D., Benjamin White, Thomas First and James Allsworth, of Sioux county. They interviewed the governor and pardon board officials Ironeyes was sentenced about four months ago.

School children were to be guests of the Town Criers today at a free movie show, a part of the entertainment provided here on the Dollar Day sales.

The visitors who came to the city yesterday for the first Dollar Day and visited the free show given in the Auditorium yesterday afternoon by the Town Criers, obtaining their free tickets from the merchants, were well pleased with the high class program presented. This afternoon two shows were to be given again, and school children of the city and country both were to be guests at the second show.

The proposed pavement dance could not be held because of the change of weather last evening, but the comedy band of four which paraded the streets attracted a great deal of attention.

Perhaps one of the features which appealed to out-of-town guests more than any other was the free rest room at the Masonic Temple, which is open every day during the week to people coming into the city on business. Many cooling babies were taken care of there while the mothers took advantage of Dollar Day bargains.

The second sale day opened at 9 a. m. with the blowing of whistles and many new faces from outside Bismarck were here to take advantage. Reports of visitors indicate that the "sociability sales" have been a success, particularly in the reception given to the visitors and the remarkable bargains offered. They found everything just as advertised.

SHOCKER STOPS YANKS, CUTTING LEAD IN RACE

Spitball Artist Humbles American Leaders and Holds Ruth Hitless

New York, Sept. 28.—Pitcher Urban Shocker of the St. Louis Browns is a man who would like to see the New York Yankees and no one else. And today he did it. And today the league leaders of the Yankees were reduced to a 2-0 lead and a halt.

Out of nine hits he has pitched against the Yankees, Shocker has allowed only two runs, one earned, and he has struck out nine batters. He has also hit Ruth in three times at bat.

Both the Yankees and Cleveland Indians are out today, but tomorrow they begin their final four games which will decide the issue in the American circuit. The Chicago White Sox are the Indians' opponents in the league championships four last contests, while New York plays the Athletics and one game with the Red Sox.

FRANK FRISCH REVIVES LOST ART OF BASE STEALING But Will He Show In World Series? Dope Says He Can't Equal The Feats Of Old Stars

HONUS WAGNER
STOLE 6 BASES IN THE 1907 SERIES

EDDIE COLLINS
HAS STOLEN MORE
BASES THAN ANY OTHER
WORLD SERIES PLAYER

SLAGLE CAPPED 6
BASES IN THE 1907 SERIES

(By Roy Cowley)

Frankie Frisch, the youth who this season has revived the lost major league art of base stealing, brings an interesting angle into the world series.

Can he duplicate the feats of stars of the past? Or has world series base stealing gone into the discard along with the strikeout kings?

Frisch, third baseman with the Giants, has stolen more than 50 bases on National League pitchers this year, almost double the thefts of his nearest competitors in both circuits.

And now Frisch is going into the world series to face the cream of American League pitchers. What'll he do? How good will he be?

Based on standards of bygone years, Frisch's record for the season should be good for half a dozen thefts in the big tilt. But on the face of results in the past few seasons, he'll be lucky to collect two.

Eddie Collins is the premier thief among world series players—speaking of base thefts, of course. The White Sox speed merchant has figured in six of the tall classics and has a grand total of fourteen sacks checked up to his credit.

Even Eddie is finding the going of recent years more difficult. One stolen base was the best he could do against Cincinnati in the series with the Reds in 1919, although he had no difficulty in working Cub pitchers for four sacks when with the Athletics in the 1910 series.

Back in 1907, Slagle of the Cubs stole six bases during the world series against Detroit, and two years later Honus Wagner, the doctory Pirate veteran, duplicated the feat against the same team.

In 1909 Wagner stole second three times in the third game of the series. In the fifth game Honus went to first when he was hit by a pitcher. He swiped second and then third. By this time the pitcher was excited and Honus worked him into throwing the ball over the third baseman's head and then scrambled home.

In the Cub-Detroit series in 1908, with two out, Ty Cobb singled. Then he stole second and third, and he and Rossman nearly got away with a delayed double steal.

Who do you hear of ambling all the way around without a hit in the classics of today?

In the world series of 1920 between the Indians and Dodgers there were only three stolen bases in the seven games. In the series of 1916 one base was stolen by each team, duplicating the record made in the series the year before.

Compare that to the 1907 series between the Cubs and Detroit when runners stole 23 bases. Or the series two years later when 24 pilfered sacks were registered.

How come? Pitching? In the heyday of base stealing, when the players were running riot on the sacks, they were facing such pitchers as Mathewson, Coombs, Marquard and other greats, whose performances in the box have stood unequalled.

winter race meet ever held in the south. Representative R. J. Weinmann, of New Orleans, is the author of the race track dope bill. It prohibits the publication of any kind of odds on races, betting odds, dope as to probable results or probable odds. It also prohibits the transmission of this dope by telephone or telegraph.

The purpose of the Weinmann bill is to knock out the handbook. To accomplish this purpose, however, followers of the racing game claim, its passage will kill facin. The bill will be vigorously fought.

The introduction of the Weinmann bill has not halted the work of it. S. Eddy, general manager of the B. M. R. A., in preparing for the midwinter clash of the country's thoroughbreds. Eddy has just returned from a visit to the Kentucky, New York and Canadian racing centers, where he booked the greatest collection of thoroughbreds that ever faced the starter's barrier. The crack stables of all the millionaire horsemen of the country will be brought here for the 30-days' meet, starting January 1.

Among horsemen whose colors will be seen at the Fair Grounds track are: J. E. Seagram, Canadian breeder; M. Block, owner of Morvich and other crack sprinters; Frank J. Kelly; S. C. Hillreth, part owner of the Rancocas stables; T. H. Griffin, who handles the Johnson, California, stables; F. J. Johnson, Hillie Shieles and Max Hirsch.

RAIN INSURANCE IS PAID MINOR BASEBALL CLUB

Minot, N. D., Sept. 28.—Berton Smallwood, business manager of this season's Minot independent baseball club, received a check for $250 which covers the insurance on the first game of the Saskatoon-Minot baseball series played here the second of September. During a rain storm, only three games were played, Saskatoon being victorious in two of the contests. The management of the locals took out $250 rain insurance on each week day game and $1,000 on the Sunday contest. The agreement is that a certain specified amount of rain must fall between 1 and 6 p. m. Games were called on two other days, but because the rain fell before noon or not a sufficient amount between 1 and 6 p. m., no insurance could be collected for these two days.

This is probably the first instance in North Dakota when insurance has been collected in such a case. The insurance was taken out through the Helling Insurance agency of this city. In the future in all probability insurance will be taken out for all important games.

Dollar Days Bring Large Number to Local Rest Room

An unusually large number of out of town ladies have taken advantage of Bismarck's ladies rest room at the Masonic Temple the past few days during the Dollar Day sales. During the day yesterday ten ladies were taken care of and a great number of ladies came there to rest after their shopping trip. Almost as many were being taken care of today.

All through the year the number of ladies visiting the rest room is large and the sales yesterday and today only help prove the popularity of the rest room. The rest room is under the management of the Women's Community Council and the work has been kept up made it of real service to rural and Bismarck ladies.

The funds of the Community Council for this work are now getting very low and the people of Bismarck are asked to do what they can to help forward the work of the council.

NEW TOLL RATES

In accordance with the order of the Federal Court, new rates for Long Distance telephone service were placed in effect in North Dakota as of September 11th.

As you no doubt know, the Court Order was issued after we had endeavored for more than a year to obtain an adjustment of rates that would enable us to operate our property in this State without losing money.

Following are a few representative charges under the new rates from Bismarck:

To	Station-To-Station Day Evening Night	Person-To-Person Day Evening Night

"Long Distance" will give you the rate anywhere.

FROM HIS IN RING TO HIS IN PHOTOPLAY

An interesting figure in the company of Buck Jones appearing in the production "To a Finish" at the Bismarck theatre tomorrow is Norman Selby. Many but not all picture goers recognize in Selby the once renowned pugilist, Kid McCoy—the professional boxer whose ambition in those days soared toward the world's heavyweight championship.

That the kid was a boxer possessed of brain as well as brawn has been demonstrated since his reentry once into motion pictures. He has appeared for the Feature Film Company in "The Great Diamond Robbery," "The Fine Arts as the Rubic," "Betts of Grey Stone," "The Griffith in Broken Blossoms," and "The Fox in Straight from the Shoulder."

Now his 6 feet of height and 200 pounds add weight to the latest Buck Jones drama "To a Finish."

IN YOUR BODY
Is science on the eve of discarding the theory that your intellect, emotions and personality are in your brain?
"Psychologically, the brain is the least important part of the body and the pituitary gland, one of the ductless bodies, is far the most important," says Dr. Ernest E. Tucker of New York.
Your pituitary gland, smaller than a cherry, hangs from the base of your brain. If it gets too active, the body suddenly grows into a circus giant. If it is underactive in the child, he will mature into a midget or dwarf.
The pituitary gland is responsible for the height of Jan Van Albert, nine-feet-five-inches-tall, who was married the other day when his circus played Port Arthur, Ontario.
As for the rest of us, many scientists think our intelligence is regulated by our pituitary gland.

Will-power, say the scientists, depends on the adrenal glands, tiny capsules attached to the kidneys.
Did you ever get so mad that you "shook with rage"? Have you "trembled with fear" or "quivered with excitement"? That was caused by your adrenal glands. Some doctors even think that the adrenals control the emotions—courage, fear, love, anger.
Violent temper, periodic fits of rage—these may only be diseases of the adrenals.

You've heard of the thyroid gland. If it becomes sluggish, it swells into a goiter. If it gets over-active, the eyes bulge, pulse runs as high as 220, the body trembles.
An over-active thyroid floods the brain with iodine, making the wits work rapidly at high-key. Then you have genius—a musician, an Oscar Wilde, an artist or a social fanatic.

The thyroid gland is the damper that regulates the fuel burned in your body. It slows you up or gives you speed.
A New York mother of eight children is being given thyroid treatment, which doctors say may cure her of habitual thieving.

In Columbus, O., two stunted girls of nine and ten are being transformed from babe-size to normal by thyroid treatment.
Doc Voronoff, "monkey gland" man of Paris, claims similar wonders from feeding patients extract of sheep thyroid. It will be some time before Doc reports again. Dogs got into his laboratory and ate his stock of thyroids.

The thyroid, pituitary and adrenals are only a few of the ductless glands buried in the body. The purpose of all of them is not known. But science will find out—already has a good start.
The search is, today, the thrilling pursuit of the greatest minds in the medical profession.
Solve the mysteries of the ductless glands and we'll be closer to the mystery of life.
It even is not impossible that emotions, intelligence, will-power and personality may some day be sold in bottles.

ARMY
Orders from the army general staff cut the army to 150,000 soldiers. A good example for other nations at the disarmament conference.
Is it a wise move? After each war, Americans have always junked their military machine as rapidly as possible. We hate war and war devices, largely because ours is a republic.
The more a nation's control is concentrated in the hands of its people, the less danger of wars. Peace dove will flap its wings when Japan has a republic. That will come.

PROFITS
A rich Irishman is the Earl of Meath. His yearly income is about $84,000. After he pays taxes, upkeep of his estate, insurance and the like, the earl finds he has net profits of only $1045 a year. That makes him bewildered. He can't figure it out.
Neither can we, Earl. Mighty few of us have anything left after the bills are paid. You're lucky if you break even, these days.
PAY 49 CENTS FOR SERVICE
You spend a dollar and wonder how much of it goes to the fellow who actually produced what you buy. Congressman Sidney Anderson also wondered. It cost him. He investigated.
Andy says his findings show that the consumer's dollar goes as follows: 37 cents for cost of production, 14 cents for profit, 49 cents for "service."

Service, however, includes packing, transportation, selling expenses, insurance, rent, wages and overhead.
Those cannot be done away with. But something is radically wrong when it costs a third more to get commodities to consumers, not counting profits, than it does to produce them.
Remedy? Only one. Get consumers closer to sources of production. Break up the cities. Back to the farm! Move the factory into the country.

HOME-BREW
From Washington comes a denial that it's legal to make yourself 200 gallons of wine, for your own use, by registering with the collector of internal revenue.
Wine-making in cellars will proceed as usual. Not enough jails to stop it. Prohibition comes slowly. But it will be absolute in time. The fuss and bother of making home-made hooch will do more to make us dry than Volstead.

BACK
During the war, dangers to navigation in the Atlantic shifted much of our imports and exports to Gulf and Pacific ports.
Now the trade currents of the ocean have gone back to normal and Atlantic ports have their old-time share of foreign trade.
Another decade will show a similar movement all through society and its civilization. Gradually the war will melt into history and the world will toil ahead in the old 1913 paths.

INDIA
Afghanistan, the gate to India, signs a treaty giving Russia bolsheviks special privileges. England sought a similar treaty, but the Afghans refused.
Before the German menace, England's greatest fear was that Russia would march down and seize rich India.
India is the Archilles' heel of the British Empire. In 18 months, Lenin has wormed Russia closer to the Indian goal than the czars did in a century. Keep an eye on this. It'll be big front-page news one of these days.

THIRSTY
The Quebec Liquor Commission says that hereafter it will not sell liquor to thirsty Americans unless they have a permit from their government in Washington.
This follows a picnic at Lacolle, in which 3000 guests from New York were tapping 70 barrels of beer when raided.

Is Washington going so far that, by diplomatic pressure, it intends to tell us how and what we can drink when we're in foreign countries?
Or is Quebec afraid we'll drink her dry?

NO PARADOX IN THRIFT
A lesson may be inculcated, but no particular wonder is to be excited by the story Chauncey M. Depew is telling in the "black magic" of compound interest. Sixty years ago the veteran New Yorker deposited $100 in a small town bank and let it lie there. Time and compound interest did their work and today that $100 account stands at $800. It is a very simple problem in compound interest and any seventh grade student in the public schools can work it out to his satisfaction.
It is much more interesting, however, to take a deposit of $100 for each of the sixty years or even a reasonable term, and work out the value of the account to date.

Interest is not in the interest, simple or compound, but in the proposition of saving. It is given to few men to live as long as Mr. Depew and to try the experiment of a sixty-year deposit untouched, but the matter of saving money and accumulating a nest egg is an open opportunity to the large majority. The man who at twenty establishes the habit of putting, say $200 a year, in a saving bank and from time to time investing the accumulation in safe bonds is sure of a comparative competency at the age of forty, when his children are growing up. By the time he is ready with advanced years to retire from active labor of hand or brain he may have spent exactly as much as he earned with still enough invested to provide for old age. Every man who has earned a fortune will confirm the statement that it is the first $1,000 that is most difficult to accumulate and works the most effectively for subsequent results.

The thing is to establish the habit. Only one man in fifty saves what he might, without deprivation. Another in fifty lays up more than he should in consideration of himself and his surroundings. The majority tendency is to live up to earning capacity and five in fifty overspend their earnings. Mr. Depew tells an interesting story, but it becomes a valuable story if it serves to impress upon young men, with the opportunity wide open, how surely and rapidly comes the money accretion when the start is made. And what should not be overlooked is the fact that the young man with money in the bank or invested in securities is reasonably certain to be a better American and better citizen.—St. Paul Dispatch.

R. A. Nestos is a veteran of many campaigns, and he is displaying his remarkable stamina on the stump in the present campaign. If the I. V. The league committee claims that it will wage the campaign on less money than in any campaign in North Dakota. Farmers haven't a dime to dig up for the fight, so instead, according to the league man, volunteer workers are to be depended upon to the utmost. However, the league boasts of the manner in which its funds are being collected and points to the varied and widespread subscriptions. As an example it relates that the Woman's club of Barnes county realized $70 for the "Victory fund" by selling a monogram quilt and giving dance. Five dollar and one dollar donations are numerous. The small contribution plan has its disadvantages and

"MAJOR" POLLEY, TRIES SUICIDE, IS HELD INSANE

Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 29.—Attempted suicide and his adjudication as insane comprise the latest chapters in the checkered career of "Major" William E. Polley, who has been held for some time in the Richland county jail on charge of rape and wife desertion.
Declared sane by the county board of insanity in their first consideration of his mental status he was lodged in jail to await trial. Polley then figured in a jailbreaking attempt in which he gave an alarm, resulting in the recapture of two fellow prisoners who made a break for liberty. They charged that Polley himself engineered the attempt and induced his wife to pass in saws used in cutting jail bars, but that he got "cold feet" at the last moment and instead of escaping himself, gave the alarm. Polley's wife, as the result of the episode, was lodged in jail on the charge of aiding prisoners to escape.
Another chapter in the case occurred when fellow prisoners, alarmed by the sound of an overturned chair, found Polley writhing in death struggles at the end of an improvised rope of blankets encircling his neck and fastened to the ceiling of his cell. The sheriff and deputy sheriff, aroused by the inmates' cries entered the cell and helped resuscitate Polley.
The county board of insanity, again considering his mental status, declared him insane and ordered him committed to the state hospital at Jamestown. Major Polley was arrested in Bismarck at the request of Wahpeton police.

The trial court denied the application for a restraining order, but in its order provided that the execution sale should be subject to all the rights and equities of the State; that such rights and equities were to be determined in the foreclosure action; that any purchaser at the execution sale should take such automobile subject to the rights of the State as they might finally be determined in such foreclosure action; that said automobile should remain in the possession of the said sheriff to abide the final determination of the rights of the State in said action; and that at the time of and before making such execution sale, the sheriff should read such order of the court and announce that said sale was being made subject to the provisions thereof. It is that the plaintiff was in no event prejudiced by such order.
When on appeal from an order denying an injunction to restrain an execution sale, it appears that the proceedings were not stayed pending appeal, and that before the appeal was submitted the execution sale had been held in accordance with the directions of the order appealed from, the question as to whether the sale should or should not have been restrained becomes a moot one and the appeal is subject to dismissal.

From Ramsey County
The State of North Dakota, Plaintiff-Appellant, vs. One 1918 Buick Automobile, Towing car No. 19, Factory No. 67577, Motor No. 644158, and all persons interested therein, or having claim therein. Defendants-Respondents.
Syllabus: (1) The plaintiff, the State of North Dakota, made application for an order to restrain the sheriff from selling a certain automobile at an execution sale on the ground that an action had been brought and was then pending for the forfeiture of said automobile, under the State Probation Laws, (Chapter 97 Laws 1921), and that all claims relating to said automobile were properly triable in such forfeiture action. The trial court denied the application for a restraining order, but in its order provided that the execution sale should be subject to all the rights and equities of the State; that such rights and equities were to be determined in the foreclosure action; that any purchaser at the execution sale should take such automobile subject to the rights of the State as they might finally be determined in such foreclosure action; that said automobile should remain in the possession of the said sheriff to abide the final determination of the rights of the State in said action; and that at the time of and before making such execution sale, the sheriff should read such order of the court and announce that said sale was being made subject to the provisions thereof. It is that the plaintiff was in no event prejudiced by such order.
(2) When on appeal from an order denying an injunction to restrain an execution sale, it appears that the proceedings were not stayed pending appeal, and that before the appeal was submitted the execution sale had been held in accordance with the directions of the order appealed from, the question as to whether the sale should or should not have been restrained becomes a moot one and the appeal is subject to dismissal.
Appeal from the District Court of Ramsey county, Buttz, J., plaintiff appeals from an order denying an application for an order restraining an execution sale.
Affirmed.
Opinion of the Court by Christenson, J. S. W. Thompson, State's Attorney of Ramsey county, Devils Lake, N. D., and J. C. Adamson, Devils Lake, N. D., for appellant.
F. H. Traynor & Traynor, Devils Lake, N. D., for respondent.

ANNIVERSARY OF CHICAGO'S FIRE RECALLS STORY OF MRS. O'LEARY'S COW

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Mrs. O'Leary and her celebrated cow will have no part in the observance of the centennial of the Chicago fire, to be held here Oct. 2-15, it was disclosed today. The reason being that a search of the records of the fire department shows that both Mrs. O'Leary and the cow had retired an hour before the fire started, and had nothing to do with starting the blaze, although it did start in the O'Leary cow-shed.

These records show that there was a rumor at the time that neighbors had slipped into the barn to milk the cow for materials for an over-stew or a milk punch, and another that a bunch of boys from the neighborhood were smoking in the barn. A broken lamp was found in the ruins of the barn the day after the fire. This gave rise to the report, now become a legend, that Mrs. O'Leary had gone to the barn in the evening carrying a lamp and, that the cow, piqued at being disturbed, had kicked her mistress, who dropped the lamp, and the big doings were on.

The fire department investigators learned that Mrs. O'Leary had a sore foot on the day of the fire and had retired at 8:30 that evening. It was deemed unlikely that she would have arisen and gone to the barn after the fire.

CASSELTON TO PLAY BISMARCK HERE SATURDAY

Eastern State Team is Scheduled to Open the 1921 Football Season

STATE CHAMP CONTESTS
District Leaders Will Fight it Out for the Championship of North Dakota

SCHEDULE FOR 1921
Oct. 1—Casselton at Bismarck.
Oct. 7—Bismarck at Minot.
Oct. 12—(Wednesday), Jamestown at Bismarck.
Oct. 14—(Friday), Bismarck at Mandan.
Oct. 21—Williston, either place (Friday).
Oct. 28—Mandan at Bismarck.
Nov. 1—Valley City at Bismarck.

Bismarck high school will play Casselton at 3 o'clock here Saturday afternoon at the city baseball park.

The game was scheduled on short notice, due to the necessity of making changes in the schedule. Dickinson high school now is definitely off the schedule because of inability of the management of the athletic associations of the two schools to agree on dates.

The Casselton team, according to reports reaching here, will be a hard game. The team has seven veterans of last year's team and eight promising recruits to win the other four positions. The team was to play at Jamestown today. Casselton beat Enderlin last Saturday, and Coach Wright hopes to correct a lot of defects in the Jamestown game. Bismarck therefore, will face a team that has had the advantage of clashes on the gridiron already this season.

State Champ Contests.
The state champion in football will be chosen this year through elimination of teams in the four districts. Bismarck, in the southwestern district, has been able to schedule games in the district only with Mandan. Under the plan the winner of the district titles will meet the first two weeks in November to determine who shall play for the state title.
The Valley City game scheduled for November 4 here, will be played only in Valley City is eliminated from the southwestern district contests. If she is not she will play some team in that district for the right to fight it out for the state title.

U. OF N. D. READY FOR MINNESOTA

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 29.—University of North Dakota is preparing for the opening football contest of the season against Minnesota with the same optimism that the school awaited the opening basketball contest against the Minnesota squad last season. It is declared that North Dakota has not in years past such a formidable enemy against the larger school as Coach Davis will this season take to Minneapolis.

After the opening contest, three days off only, two veterans are certain of starting in the curtain-raiser, it is declared. Robertson, quarter back and Dutch Hanson, tackle, are expected to start but all other veterans are being pushed hard by new comers who in many instances are seniors of former years are battling for places that only one may hold.

CHESBRO PULLS FOR YANKS

Pitcher Whose Wild Heave Cost New York Pennant in 1904. Eager For Huggmen To Win

JACK CHESBRO
MADE A WILD PITCH IN 1904 AND CUT NEW YORK OUT OF A PENNANT

LARRY LAJOIE
STRUCK OUT WITH THE BASES FULL IN A PINCH—IN 1908—AND CLEVELAND LOST THE PENNANT

MERKLE FAILED TO GO AFTER SPEAKER'S FOUL WHICH COST THE GIANTS A WORLD SERIES

By Roy Groves.

Jack Chesbro, the pitcher whose hard luck cost the New York American team a pennant on the only other occasion the team had had a chance to win, is pulling strings for the Yankees now.

If Babe Ruth & Co. beat the Cleveland team to the wire, Chesbro says he will shut up shop in his lumber business at Conway, Mass., and pack himself in the Polo ground stands to do his bit for the Yankees.

Back in 1904 the American League race wound up in a dramatic finish. Early in June Clark Griffith's New York team, then known as the Highlanders, went into second place and were chasing the league-leading Boston team hard. The fight that followed during the rest of the season was one of the most bitter ever staged in the league. Early in August New York went into the lead. Then they were dislodged, fought their way back and were dislodged again. Chicago also remained a possibility until the last week in the race.

The teams went into the last series almost neck and neck. And then came the Chesbro catastrophe.

Chesbro during that season was at the peak of his career. With a record of 41 wins and 12 defeats for the year, he had led all other American League pitchers by a big margin.

And when the Highlanders needing two more victories to top the flag and Boston needing one, Griffith sent Chesbro in to pitch the "crucial" game.

During the first part of the game Chesbro held Boston scoreless while the Highlanders scored two runs in the fifth. But in the seventh, Williams, on second, made a bad throw to the plate and let in two Boston runners, tying the score.

Everybody tightened up then, and Boston came to bat in the ninth with the score still tied. Criger singled and moved over on Dineen's sacrifice. Chesbro prepared to feed the next batter a splitter. But his finger slipped on the moist ball, the pitch went wild and hit the stands and Criger went home with the winning run, giving Boston the American League championship.

That wasn't the only time a team has been erased as a pennant winner by an overlooked possibility.

Larry Lajoie, the former hard-hitting leader of the Cleveland Naps, also looks back on an "if I only had."

Back in 1908 all the western American League teams were hunched so closely that at the end of September only about 20 points separated the four.

The season wound up with the western teams meeting. St. Louis humbled the league-leading Detroit team.

And Walsh delivered for Larry struck out.

A hit would have won the pennant for Cleveland, for on the following day Cleveland lost to St. Louis while Detroit beat Chicago, winning the pennant from Cleveland by just four points.

Merkle and Snodgrass can both look back on "if only I hadn't" experiences. For their blunders cost the Giants the 1912 series with the Red Sox.

Each team had won three games. One had been played to a tie. In the deciding game Matty was in the box and the Giants were leading by one run in the tenth.

Engle flied high to Snodgrass, and he let the ball trickle through him. This fussed Matty, and he let Yerkes walk. Up came Tris Speaker, a dangerous hitter. Spoke fouled a high one over first and Merkle stood as it in a trance and let it fall safe in the coach's box.

Then Speaker singled sending over the tying run and making it possible for a sacrifice fly to bring in the run that decided the series.

Larry Doyle of the Giants pulled one in the fifth game of the 1911 series, that, had it not been for the sportsmanship of Captain Harry Davis of the Athletics, might have wound up the series early.

The Giants had scored two runs in the last half of the ninth and tied the score. The Athletics had failed to score in the tenth.

Doyle, first up for New York, doubled and went to third on Snodgrass' bunt. Merkle hit a high fly just inside the right foul line. Murphy made a great return to Catcher Lapp, but Doyle's fadeaway slide beat the ball.

Dusting off his clothes, he walked to the bench, never noticing the fact that he hadn't touched the plate. Lapp, too, turned away, thinking the game was over. Umpire Klem remained at the plate, waiting for a protest. Davis, on first, saw the play, but the crowds were already breaking onto the field, and rather than take chances on starting a riot among the fans, the Athletic captain refused to protest Doyle's run.

INDIANS MAKE LAST FIGHT IN AMERICAN RACE

Must Win All Four Games To Win Pennant if New York Loses One Out of Four

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The Cleveland Indians, 1920 world series champions with their backs to the wall, today faced the Chicago White Sox in the first of a four-game series.

To win the American League pennant and another chance at the championship the Indians must take every one of the four games to beat out the New York Yankees, provided the Yankees win three of their remaining four games yet to be played.

With this neck and neck race to gain them on prospects were that the series opening here today is to be second in importance only to the world series itself.

COLONELS WIN THE A.A. PENNANT

Louisville, Sept. 29.—Louisville clinched the American Association pennant by winning two games from Kansas City yesterday, 7 to 3 and 12 to 9, while Minneapolis was losing to Columbus.

Should Minneapolis win her six remaining games and Louisville drop the five she has to play, the locals will finish first by a game and a half. Kirke's home run was his twenty-first of the season.
